LOOKING LONESOME.

A deserted and lonesome appearance can be noticed the moment one enters South Nashville. Meharry is out, Walden has closed and the exodus of students from these two departments to some extent depopulates this section of the city. One always hates to see the time come when so many congenial and well-behaved young people must take themselves from among friends newly made, back to their homes. Many of them have already expressed a desire to return at the beginning of the school term. A few have lingered behind, loath to leave Nashville and an expression has been heard occasionally from a few remaining that it is their intention to spend the summer here if it can be done profitably.

G. U. O. of O. F.

Annual Thanksgiving Service at Lea Avenue Christian Church.

Sunday, May 12. Grand entertainment at the hall, Monday night, May 13.

Sunday and Monday were gala days for the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows of Nashville. The main features were the grand rally and Thanksgiving sermon, which took place at Lea Avenue Christian Church, Sunday afternoon, between 2 and 3 o'clock. Every one of the twelve lodges, all the courts and the juvenile departments turned out in full force to make the program a success. They came from North, South, East and West to swell the throng. The lodges, courts and juveniles on the west side of the river assembled at their hall on Fourth Avenue, North, and marched to the church, headed by the famous G. U. O. of O. F. band. Rev. Preston Taylor, president, gave the order to "march." The line of march was through the business section of the city to the church.

The Thanksgiving Sermon was preached by Rev. T. J. Lewis. Promptly at 2 p. m. the service was begun with song and prayers by the Chaplain. Rev. Lewis made an excellent address to the different Orders.

Monday the entire day and a part of the night were given to celebrating. A banquet and amusements were enjoyed. The building was handsomely decorated and lighted for the night entertainment.

The entertainment committee spared no pains to see that every one enjoyed themselves. They prepared refreshments at the hall for the evening. The hall was thrown open during the day and evening. There was plenty of music. Both old and young spent an enjoyable time.

Two gold medals will be given, one to the Lodge and one to the Ruth, that has raised the largest sum of money.

Children's Day Program Now Ready.

We take pleasure in announcing that the program for Children's Day, which should be observed by all Sunday schools in the United States, is now ready. The program is one of the best ever gotten out. It is volume 10, No. 2, and is prepared especially for Children's Day, which is to be held Sunday, June 9, 1907. The order of exercises is arranged on the inside of the cover and outlines just now the program should be used. The Scripture reading, the singing, as well as the verses for reciting and the declamations have been selected with all possible care. These programs will be distributed gratuitously to all Sunday schools who will apply to the National Baptist Publishing Board at 523 N. Market street, Nashville, Tenn., and agree to give a collection to home missions. Nearly all of the music in the program is from our own composers. If Children's Day is to be observed by the Sunday schools, they should have their programs in time, so that the music and pieces may be well rehearsed by the scholars. Hundreds of orders have already been filled. Only a few days and the supply will be exhausted.

DAVIS OUTRAGE FURNISHES THE OPPORTUNITY.

same President found out that the barbarities of Spain upon its subjects in Cuba were a crime against humanity and put into action such agencies as would ultimately bring about war between the two countries. The ulterior object of all those crocodile tears over Spain's cruelties was the gobbling up of Cuba. The government's policy materialized; Spain's authority was swept from the Western Hemisphere, and her late possessions taken in tow by the big Republic of North America.

Another instance is Atlanta, where scores of Negroes were butchered, yet nothing like justice came to any of the murderers and no word went forth from the general government against the horror. But here in a far away land is one man subjected to an outrage and the whole nation, through its representative, resents the affront and will demand reparation in some form or other.

Those little republics existing on the narrow neck between the two Americas had better keep well within the pleasure of the big Northern Republic, or any of them may find their tenure of existence as independent nations of the same kind or nature that characterizes that of the "Pearl of the Antilles." They must remember that the Negro can not be outraged by them, whatever is done to him in his own country, and a presumption on their part may be costly, as it will afford a pretext for the big country to carry out its program of protectorate expansion, which will serve its future purpose when the big canal is completed.

CARNATION CLUB.

Mrs. H. A. Duff entertained the Carnation Club at her residence, 920 Edgehill street, Monday afternoon. The house was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and plants.
